Statement Motorhomes
made in San Casciano, Firenze, Italia

We are Laika, an Italian motorhome brand founded in 1964 in the hills of Tuscany, where we have been based ever since. Our founder, Giovanbattista Moscardini, revolutionised motorhome travelling by uniting the optimism of the '60s, the glamour of the Dolce Vita and the rapidly evolving technical possibilities of the time. To this day, everything we do is an expression of this founding spirit of curiosity and passion.

How we experience
and enjoy the world is defined by the way
we move through it.

We believe in
motorhome travelling
as an immersive
and engaging way
of experiencing
the world—and in the Italian way
of enjoying life.

That's why we create
motorhomes infused
with the Italian
spirit, for the mindful, unhurried and
elegant traveller.

Italy is our source of inspiration.

Italy and its culture of enjoying the moment, appreciating the so-called simple things in life and celebrating beauty — this is our source of inspiration, and the ingredient that makes our motorhomes unique.

With this way of life in mind, we create innovative spatial concepts and surprising features, constantly refining our vision of iconic motorhomes that let travellers enjoy the Dolce Vita.

We create motorhomes infused with the Italian spirit.
